

ABSTRACT

5

A stable, nonaqueous liquid tooth whitening composition comprised of an anhydrous peroxide compound dispersed in an orally acceptable hydrophobic organic material such as a silicone based pressure sensitive polymer which composition when applied topically to tooth surfaces forms an adherent layer containing the peroxide compound which peroxide compound is 10 thereafter is released from the layer to effect tooth whitening.

15